Friday, March 22- an event to coincide with the Festival of the Book....
   - Demos and tables at the Omni, all set for volunteers.

May 4 – JMRL open house 9-1, Need volunteers, will reach out to membership
   Addeane agreed to serve as liaison with the library.

Late Spring – early summer – “launch” of the Rivanna Reconnaissance project - event.
   Erica checked with Lana, and she is hoping that it should be done by the end of April.
   Ideas discussed were to hold a launch celebration at the Center – date TBD, Hopefully show it off at the Rivanna Riverfest. Josef suggested making a prototype that we could show, and that people could handle, and maybe having one copy there, under supervision, for showing.

We all like Liz Schneiders’ idea of having a members’ show and tell and will continue to think about how to make that happen.

Fall - Sept - Reignite the ANNUAL Wayzgoose-Perhaps making it be a “Printers’ Fair – involve the larger community.
   Kevin suggested reaching out to the larger Virginia community –
   VCU, JMU, Longwood to get them involved.
   Perhaps the VA Center for the Book could become a catalyst in creating a statewide community of book artists.   Start by having quarterly zoom meetings and see where it can go from there.
